You will need to accept the user agreement.

Review and sign the Agreements

Welcome to MSN! To finish signing up and access your MSN services, you need to accept the following Agreements. If you have questions about why you need to do this, please see the bottom of this page.

Your MSN subscription is governed by all of the following, which are collectively the "agreements":

- MSN service agreement
- MSN privacy statement

To view and print the agreements, click each link and print a copy of each agreement. To accept all of the agreements, type your e-mail address and click I Accept.

ms_demo@broncs.utpa.edu

Enter your email address here

By typing your e-mail address and clicking I Accept, you are accepting all of the agreements, and consenting to receive all information from Microsoft electronically. You understand that you are creating credentials that you can use on other sites on the Microsoft Passport Network. You also agree to receive targeted advertisements and periodic member e-mail messages from Microsoft. If you do not accept the agreements as written, click the Cancel button to discontinue sign-up.

MSN Search Toolbar with Windows Desktop Search helps you search the web and locate emails, documents, and more on your PC faster. Plus, you get one-click access to your MSN Hotmail, and MSN Messenger, and convenient features such as tabbed browsing and form fill.

Some content in MSN newsletters and offers may relate to products and services provided by third parties. This allows you to receive content about different third party offerings without having to provide your e-mail address to each of these companies. If you have opted-out from a third party by contacting that third party directly, you still may receive content in MSN newsletters and offers about that third party's products or services. Likewise, unsubscribing from an MSN Newsletter does not opt you out of receiving mailings directly from those third parties.
